'It appears that local company Medix Co has breached local planning regulations by building an extension to its research and development building for which no local authority approval has been given. The land on which the premises is situated has protected status as a "greenfield" site which means approval by the local authority is necessary for any modification to commercial buildings.

'A representative of the local planning office stated today: "We feel that this is a serious breach of regulations and it is not the first time that Medix Co has deliberately ignored planning rules. The company was successfully sued in 20X0 for constructing an access road without receiving planning permission, and we are considering taking legal action in respect of this further breach of planning regulations. We are taking steps to ensure that these premises should be shut down within a month. A similar breach of regulations by a different company last year resulted in the demolition of the building."
